

The Old Barn by Aaron

Once upon a time there was an old barn in a field that I built to milk my cows in.

I had to milk the cows twice a day. The cows eat the grass that is around the barn. In the barn, lived chickens. The chickens give eggs, and we fry the eggs for breakfast. The cat eats the mice. The dog keeps the wild animals away. I have to feed the cats food, and the dog food, and the horses hay, and the cows hay in the winter. I use the tractor to cut the grass and then bale it into hay. I put the hay in the barn loft to store it. Then we had food stocked up for the winter.
